A physical quantity is a physical property of a material that can be quantified by measurement. A physical quantity can be expressed as the combination of a magnitude expressed by a number – usually a real number – and a unit: where is the magnitude and is the unit. For example, 1.674×10^{-27} kg (the mass of the neutron), or 299 792 458 metres per second (the speed of light).

Prepare a reading guide containing questions that students should be able to answer after having read the text. Allow a limited question and answer session (e.g., let each group pick 1 question immediately before each of the RATs). Create short text supplements (often a single page or less) that clarify specific issues that create problems for students.
